Grand Teton National Park. Riding the tram from Teton Village and hiking the Rock Springs Trail into Cody Bowl is one outstanding memory I have from this summer. Although these memories took place outside of Grand Teton, our time spent on the tram and hiking the scenic trails was the most fun our family had in Grand Teton. Similar to Grand Teton, Yellowstone offers some campsites on a first come, first served basis. While Yellowstone does allow visitors to reserve a campsite in advance, these reservation-only campgrounds usually fill well ahead of time. The campsites that do not require reservations are in beautiful locations in the park but have limited amenities, such as vaulted toilets.
